

Orange Team January Newsletter

In January we will be focusing on the letters J , S and reviewing all the letters we have learned so far. Please encourage your child to find these letters and the letters we have already focused on in the environment around them. We will continue to graph our weather and discuss how to dress appropriately for the temperature.

The first week in January we will focus on classroom rules and routines.

Positive Behavior Support

In January, your child will learn about being responsible!

Olivia Claxton from our A.M. class and Landon Brandes from our P.M. class are our January Character kids! Both of these students are responsible in the classroom! Way to go, guys!

We will be learning about snow through reading books and science experiments.

We will read Sneezy the Snowman by Maureen Wright and The Mitten by Jan Brett. We will get messy with fake snow in our sensory table for the children to play with at work time.

The students enjoyed their visit from Santa and celebrating Christmas Around the World.

Upcoming Events:
